

Carla Landry Senior Consultant

Office: (202) 406-0955 | Email: clandry@lawvisiongroup.com

Carla Landry is a Senior Consultant with LawVision. She has worked in the legal industry, both in-house and as a consultant, for more than 20 years. Carla advises law firms on a variety of financial, strategic, and operational issues. Together with a colleague and a team of certified Project Management Professionals (PMPs), Carla created the first project management certification program designed for the legal profession and launched the first online elearning courses in legal project management. She coaches legal teams on implementing legal project management techniques into their matters. Carla is also a certified Yellow Belt in Lean Sigma/Process Improvement for Law Firms and has worked with firms to identify cost savings opportunities through streamlining the delivery of legal services and improving existing processes.

Carla was an adjunct faculty member at George Washington University, teaching Economics and Profitability of Law Firms as part of a master's program in law firm management. She launched an online eLearning course in law firm profitability for the Practising Law Institute (PLI) in March 2015 and is currently developing another eLearning program with PLI on Legal Process Improvement. Prior to joining LawVision Group, Carla was a Senior Director in the Law Firm Strategy and Structure Practice of Hildebrandt Baker Robbins. Her earlier consulting experience included working as a manager in PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP's Legal Systems group. In that capacity, she served as a project manager leading an international, multi-disciplinary team responsible for the analytical and diagnostic processes related to an investigative database.
